Step-by-step will planner

There are three important steps you need to consider before making or changing your will.

1. Calculate the value of your assets

It is a good idea to have a clear idea of what your estate is worth and of any debts owing to you. We have compiled this simple table so you can list everything you own and its approximate value if you were to sell it now. If you own anything jointly with someone else, you should only include the value of your share.

Calculate what you own (today's value)
